RESEARCH INTEREST

Social and Environmental Determinants of Health; Health Intervention Research; Populations with Behavioral, Mental Health, and Social Vulnerabilities; Healthy Aging

EDUCATION

University of Chicago

Ph.D. in Public Health Sciences

CGPA: 4.00/4.00

(Concluded training in Dec 2023 and relocated to Hong Kong for family commitments.)

Sep 2022 - Dec 2023

Chicago, United States

Hong Kong University of Science and Technology

M.Phil. in Social Science

CGPA: 3.86/4.30

Supervisors: Dr. Stuart Gietel-Basten & Dr. Gerald Patchell

Sep 2020 - May 2022

Hong Kong

University of Hong Kong

B.A. in Language and Communication (Minor: Geography)

CGPA: 2.61/4.30 | Senior Year GPA: 3.54/4.30

GPA in Geography: 3.60/4.30

Sep 2014 - Dec 2019

Hong Kong

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Department of Public Health Sciences, University of Chicago

Research Rotation (Structure of the Ph.D. Program)

Supervisor: Dr. Brian CHIU

Sep 2022 - Dec 2023

Chicago, United States

- Analysed the association between cigarette smoking and the overall survival of multiple myeloma (a type of getriatric cancer) patients, resulting in a manuscript titled “Pre-diagnostic Cigarette Smoking and Overall Survival in Newly Diagnosed Multiple Myeloma Patients”.
- Conducted an exploratory spatial analysis of county-level multiple myeloma incidence rates across the U.S. to generate etiologic hypotheses, resulting in a manuscript titled “Geospatial Analysis of Population-based Multiple Myeloma (MM) Incidence in the United States”.
- Collaborated with a colleague to analyse the association between overall survival in multiple myeloma patients, 5hmC signatures in cell-free DNA, and chromosomal abnormalities, resulting in two conference abstracts “Population-specific 5-hydroxymethylcytosine Signatures in Circulating Cell-free DNA and Overall Survival Among Blacks and Whites with Multiple Myeloma” and “Population Differences in the Associations Between Chromosomal Abnormalities and Overall Survival Among Blacks and Whites with Multiple Myeloma”.
- Designed a follow-up survey using validated instruments to assess quality of life, depression, anxiety, social support, financial burden, intention to seek complementary and alternative medicine, spirituality, and religiosity in a cohort of multiple myeloma patients.

Department of Epidemiology, University of Florida

Visiting Research Student

Supervisor: Dr. Hui HU

Feb 2021 - Aug 2021

Virtual

- Conducted literature review on external exposome-wide association studies (ExWAS) and exposome data collection.

School of Public Health, University of Hong Kong*Research Assistant (Full-time)*

Feb 2020 - Aug 2020

Hong Kong

Supervisor: Dr. Janice JOHNSTON

- Assisted in the distribution of 10,000+ paper surveys to healthcare workers to evaluate their quality of life.
- Managed response collection and ensured data accuracy using Microsoft Access.

Department of Geography, University of Hong Kong*Research Assistant (Part-time)*

Apr 2019 - Jul 2022

Hong Kong

Supervisors: Dr. Peter Keumseok KOH & Dr. Feiyang ZHANG

- Analysed food accessibility among older adults between two gentrifying neighborhoods in Hong Kong using the 3D pedestrian network data accounting for 3D distance, slopes and staircases, resulting in a manuscript titled “Comparing Food Accessibility Among Older Adults Between Two Gentrifying Neighborhoods in Hong Kong: A Novel “Distance-Slope-Staircases (DSS)” 3D Pedestrian Network Model”.
- Conducted paper surveys with trained interviewing techniques and assisted older adults in community centers with smartphone app installation for an ecological momentary assessment (EMA) study.
- Investigated the association between socioeconomic status and COVID-19 cases in Hong Kong and South Korea, resulting in a book chapter titled “Does Socioeconomic Status Matter? A Study on the Spatial Patterns of COVID-19 in Hong Kong and South Korea”.
- Conducted a systematic review of the food environments in East and South-East Asian context, resulting in a manuscript titled “The Food Environments of Fruit and Vegetable Consumption in East and Southeast Asia: A Systematic Review”.
- Analysed clustering of fast-food restaurants around secondary schools in Hong Kong to combat rising trend of childhood obesity, resulting in a manuscript titled “Geographic Clustering of Fast-Food Restaurants Around Secondary Schools in Hong Kong”.
- Conducted literature review of the applications of agent-based modeling in health studies.

Department of Urban Planning and Design, University of Hong Kong*Research Assistant (Part-time)*

Apr 2020 - Dec 2020

Hong Kong

Supervisor: Dr. Derrick Hung Chak HO

- Designed an online survey implemented under the Hong Kong Public Opinion Research Institute using validated instruments to assess the risk factors of depression, anxiety, mental well-being and KAP (Knowledge, Attitude, and Practice) on disaster preparedness in Hong Kong during the COVID-19 pandemic, including socio-demographics, commute behavior, family needs, information seeking behavior, and residential environmental exposure.
- Collaborated with colleagues to analyse the prevalence of anxiety and depression and associated risk factors during the COVID-19 pandemic in Hong Kong, resulting in a manuscript titled “Prevalence of Anxiety and Depression and Associated Risk Factors During the COVID-19 Pandemic: A Population-based Study in Hong Kong”.
